ANNEXURE I

INSTRUCTIONS FOR THE CONTROL OF HIGH QUALITY CAULIFLOWER SEED PRODUCTION

Cauliflower is a cross polinated crop. Therefore, in order to produce high quality seed it is necessary to adopt the following scientific cultural practices:—

(1) Isolation.—Seed crop of cauliflower should be isolated by 1 mile distance from other varieties of cauliflower and other Cole Cross like cabbage, knolkohl, Brussels sprout, kale, Karam Sag, etc., grown for seed production.

(2) Rouging.—When the curds are formed, some plants do not form the curds and thereby directly bolt. Such plants should be uprooted. The plants left for seed should form compact snow-white curds and should be free from seed borne diseases.

(3) Spraying the crop against pests and diseases.—Cabbage butterfly Caterpillar and aphids are two serious insect pests of cauliflower. It is therefore, necessary to spray the crop at a reasonable interval of 7-10 days to maintain the health standards of the crop for the production of quality seed.

(4) Any other cultural practice(s) recommended from time to time, by the Department of Agriculture, Himachal Pradesh.

By order,
B. S. SINGH,
Secretary.
